DETAILED ACTION

1. In response to applicant's communication of 02/26/08, please note the following:

37 CFR 1.142(a), second sentence, indicates that a restriction requirement "will normally be made before any action upon the merits; however, it may be made at any time before final action." This means the examiner should make a proper requirement as early as possible in the prosecution, in the first action if possible, otherwise, as soon as the need for a proper requirement develops. That is, 37 CFR 1.142(a) provides that restriction is proper at any stage of prosecution up to final action (See MPEP 811 Time for Making Requirement).

Restriction (election of species) is being required herein because applicant has substantially and significantly amended the scope of the present claims during the entire prosecution of the pending application to the point that each response to an Examiner's action includes subject matter or claims substantially dissimilar in scope with respect to prior versions thereof or each other; and the Examiner has had the burden of producing or finding distinctly classified references to address the aforementioned subject matter of each independent claim. Additionally, after more than six (6) office actions (including this one) it is not understood why applicant continues to present subject matter which substantially deviates from that of the prior version of the present claims. Applicant is kindly invited to provide a suitable amendment to the pending claim including all intended elements/steps at once, or that at least focuses around the general inventive step of the intended invention, thereby allowing the examiner to make a deep examination of the intended subject matter and a reasonable comparison against the prior art for the sole purposes of expediting the prosecution of the pending application.

Election/Restrictions

2. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

Species 1: the method of operating a fuel cell by feeding a specific hydrocarbon gas to the cathode (without terminating feeding of the oxygen containing gas to the cathode) (claim 107)

Species 2: the method for operating a fuel cell by feeding water to the cathode and terminating feeding of the oxygen containing gas (claims 108-109).

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim is generic.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

3. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
